WITNESS CHANGES TESTIMONY AND JUDGE ORDERS HIS ARREST

Court Instructs Prosecutor to File
Perjury and Unlawful Liquor
Possession Charges

BLAINE FRITCH ACCUSED

Made Sworn Statement He and Frank
Rogers Bought Whiskey From
Fred Clevenger Nov. 7

DENIES IT ON THE STAND

Rogers Verifies Prosecutor's Story
of Transaction—Fritch Alleges
a "Frame-Up"

Blaine Fritch, prosecuting witness for the state in the alleged liquor law violation case on which Fred Clevenger was being tried today in the circuit court, changed his original sworn statement, and denied on the witness stand that he had purchased liquor from the defendant. Shortly before noon, after the witness had been examined by each side, Judge Sparks ordered Sheriff Hunt to take him into custody and that a charge of perjury and also for unlawful possession of liquor be filed against him.

The case against Clevenger continued, and the next witness was Frank Rogers, who was in company with Fritch when the alleged sale of two pints of liquor took place, and this witness verified the sworn statement, implicating Clevenger in the deal.

Fritch's testimony created quite a stir in the court room. He said that he now resides in Indianapolis, and moved there in September. He said that on the night before the election he came to Rushville and on election morning he met Albert C. Stevens, the prosecutor, in Main street, near his office, and that the latter asked him "if he had anything on his hip".

The witness stated that he had about a pint, and they went into Steven's office, where each of them drank some of it. Fritch said he asked the prosecutor how the case was coming along with Frank Rogers, who had been indicted a few weeks previous on a charge of assault with intent to commit a crime. The witness explained that he was a friend to Rogers, as they had been engaged frequently in the same line of work.

He said that he made a suggestion that he wished something could be done to exonerate Rogers, and that the prosecutor suggested a "frame-up" on Fred Clevenger. Fritch said that the prosecutor told him that if he and Rogers would go to Clevenger's house and buy some liquor, and make a statement to that effect and produce the evidence, that the case against Rogers would be dropped.

The prosecutor in his opening statement stated that on election night, November 7, about 6:30 o'clock, Rogers and Fritch went with Clevenger in his automobile, to his home near Circleville, and that a sworn statement was made by the men that they gave Clevenger $5.00, waited in the machine alongside Clevenger's house, while he went inside, and that he delivered them two pint bottles of corn whiskey.

The witness, Fritch, however, on the witness stand, denied that he bought the liquor from Clevenger, but admitted signing the statement, and stated that he went to the covered bridge in South Main street, and obtained the liquor where he had previously hidden it in the rafters.

He said that he had bought it earlier in the day from a man by the name of Adam Parker, who lives in Indianapolis. He said that he then

SPECIAL POLICE ON DUTY

Guard Estate at Clayton, O., Where
Clemenceau Spends the Day

Clayton, Mo., Dec. 1.—Special police with their sawed-off shot guns slung under their arms patrolled the lawn of the palatial Pultzer estate, guarding Georges Clemenceau against any possible attack on his life.

The "tiger" who arrived here this morning, rested quietly. He looked not at all disturbed by the fact that a threatening letter had been received by St. Louis authorities. He was somewhat annoyed by the armed guard, but Mayor Keil refused to take any chances.

took the two bottles to the prosecutor, who took a drink out of one of them, and that he took a drink out of the other one.

The witness stated that in the "frame-up" against Clevenger, the prosecutor had previously told him that they would arrest Clevenger, and that he could get between $300 and $400 out of him, and that the money would be split three ways, among all three of them.

Mr. Fritch stated that Clevenger had visited him three times in Indianapolis, since his arrest, to talk about the facts in the case. He denied that Clevenger had paid him any money to change his testimony, upon being asked by the state's attorney. The witness stated also that he had talked to Mr. Stevens twice since the case came up.

At the conclusion of his evidence, Judge Sparks immediately ordered the sheriff to take charge of Fritch because he had made a false statement under oath, either to the prosecutor or to the jury, and that a charge of unlawful possession of liquor would be filed because he had testified to having two pints in his possession on election day. The witness went to jail, and the formal charges were to be docketed against him late today, and he will remain in jail until noon Saturday, if the court sees fit, without bond.

Rogers, the next witness, told a story which was practically identical to the one outlined by the prosecutor in his opening statement to the jury, in which the defendant was implicated.

The defense in the case is being represented by Donald Smith and John A. Tittsworth, and the state is represented by Prosecutor Stevens and Attorney Minton, from the state federal prohibition enforcement office.

The state rested their case shortly after noon, and the defense set out their case, in an attempt to prove an alibi for the defendant. George Aultman testified that he rode with the defendant in his machine after the voting polls closed on election night, and that he was with him at 6:10 or 6:15 on that night.

Other witnesses who testified similarly were Ray Benning, Will Brann and Patrolman Ray Lakin, all who stated that the defendant was at the voting precinct, located at the Innis Pearce factory at six o'clock, or a few minutes later, when the polls were closed.

The state had attempted to show that the alleged purchase was made between 6 and 6:30 on election night.

The jury hearing the case, is composed of George Seeley, Harry McFatrige, Ed. L. Reeve, Jeff Leisure, Gilbert Cooley, Jake Wynn, Ed Hood, Ed. O. Clark, J. F. Fore, Will Abercrombie, William Hardwick and James Oldham.

The case was expected to be completed late today, depending upon the length of the arguments.

TOURING CAR BUMPED AT STREET CROSSING

Machine Driven by Mary Evelyn
Cook of Richland Township Struck
by Interurban Car

ONLY SLIGHT DAMAGE IS DONE

A closed touring car, belonging to Ollie J. Cook of Richland township and driven by his daughter, Mary Evelyn, was bumped and slightly damaged by an I. & C. eastbound traction car this morning shortly before ten o'clock at the Perkins street crossing of the interurban line, but none of the four occupants of the car was hurt. Miss Cook was accompanied by her mother and two girl friends.

The machine was going north in Perkins street and Miss Cook saw the car just before the machine reached the tracks. She pulled the car to the right and ran up over the curb with the right front wheel, but the interurban struck the machine on the left front fender and mashed down the left front wheel.

The interurban car was brought to a stop within a distance equal to the length of the car. It was in charge of Henry Allender of Greensburg, conductor, and Price Giles of this city, motorman.

Mrs. Cook and the three girls were on the way to attend the funeral of Elmer J. Ralston, which was held at the late residence, 307 East Eighth street, at ten o'clock this morning.

VENIZELOS SEES GREEK REPUBLIC

Former Premier Says That People Of
Greece Are Ripe For Change In
Form Of Government

KING OFFERS TO ABDICATE

Athens, Dec. 1.—Former Premier Venizelos today forecast a Greek republic as the country was torn with dissension over trials and executions of war leaders.

"The people are ripe for a republic," he wrote friends in letters made public here.

Turko-Bulgar insurrectionist outbreaks in Schin added to the turmoil with which the revolutionary government finds itself enveloped.

The revolutionists attacked Greek troops who repulsed them after killing 28. Thirteen of the Turko-Bulgars taken prisoners were later executed.

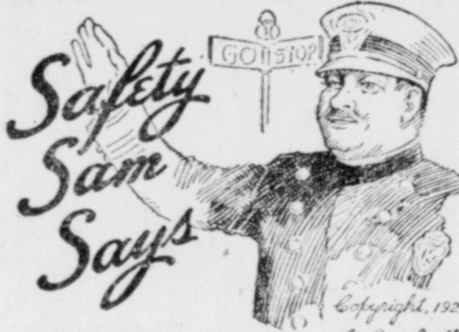

A dozen or more powerful influences were at work today to prevent the execution of Prince Andrew, brother of former King Constantine and other "war guilty" yet to be tried and sentenced.

Prince Andrew's court martial will begin shortly it was announced.

King George, fearful of the turn in events and as a protest against trials and executions, has offered to abdicate. The offer was made immediately after he learned that the prince would be tried.

Princess Alice arrived to lead the defense of Andrew, her husband. She is a sister of Lord Louis Mountbatten of England.

BUILDING PROGRAM WILL BE DISCUSSED

Trustees of State Penal Farm Will
Meet Saturday to Outline Plans
Following Trip

NEW BUILDINGS ARE NEEDED

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—An extensive permanent building program, which according to tentative plans, provide for the replacement of the number of present buildings at the state penal farm, will be discussed and outlined by the board of trustees of the farm at a meeting called for Saturday by the chairman, Claude Gregg.

The proposed program follows an extensive investigation made at penal farms in Canada and the United States by the trustees, who returned Thursday. The trustees following their meeting will submit the report to the governor who will be asked to take the matter before the next session of the legislature.

The trustees met with John J. Edson of Washington, "father of the penal farm idea of prison," who provided them with new ideas of how to regulate and operate a modern penal farm.

According to the trustees, the buildings now at the farm are falling to pieces and need immediate attention. At the meeting Saturday it is expected that the trustees will take up the question of changing the superintendent of institution, in that Governor McCray has left the entire matter in their hands.

SEAT PLAT OPEN TO SUBSCRIBERS

Reservations For First Bill Of Little
Theatre Society May Be Made
Saturday At 10 A. M.

TO BE GIVEN NEXT THURSDAY

Costs For Three One-Act Plays Are
Announced Today—Single Admis
sion Opens Tuesday

Seat reservations for the first bill of the Little Theatre Society of Rushville, to be presented at the Princess theatre next Thursday evening may be made by subscribers only, beginning Saturday at ten a. m., at the society workshop over the Farmers Trust company, it was announced today by Raymond Gregg, the director.

The first of three bills to be given by the society during the winter will be composed of "The Trysting Place", a comedy; "The Bank Account", a drama and "The Dream Maker", a fairy fantasy.

Season tickets are now on sale at seventy-five cents each, which will admit the holder to all three performances to be given this winter, and single admission tickets are thirty-five cents.

There will be no phone orders or "lay-aways" of reserved seats. The sale of single admission tickets to the first bill will start next Tuesday at Pitman and Wilson's drug store.

The season tickets are transferable but will be punched for each performance for which they are used. Due to the uncertainty of just where each bill will be given, it will be impossible to have the same seats reserved in advance for the whole season, but subscribers will be given ample time before each sale goes on to make their reservations.

The scene for "The Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington, is laid in one of the loquacious rooms of a large summer hotel, to which the Briggs family has come for a "rest." The title of the play is suggested by the picking of this apparently very quiet little nook for a secret meeting by each of three couples. Just how each arranges their meeting is divulged with the usual Tarkington humor. There is a typical Tarkington boy in the person of Lancelot Briggs who, like William Sylvanus Baxter in the same author's "Seventeen", is hopelessly in love with the "most wonderful woman."

The cast for the play is as follows:

"The Bank Account," by Howard Brock, is regarded as one of the strongest one-act plays ever written by an American. It was written in the play-writing class of Prof. Baker at Harvard, a class which is in a way a Little Theatre group itself, known as the 47 Workshop. The play deals with a problem that is essentially true to life in every city. There are only three characters, but each one is so real and so life-like that they easily put the author's point over and send the audience home thinking. May Harding and Lottie Benson, the two women concerned, are what might be called "common," not bad, but hopelessly lacking of good ideas or an understanding of life's problems. They will be portrayed by Lillian Priest and Wanda Wyatt. Lottie's husband, Frank Benson, will be played by Leslie Davis.

"The Dream Maker," by Blanch Thompson, is said to be a play for children of all ages—from seven to seventy. Some call it a fairy play because the characters are people who dwell on the moon and stars. Be it a fairy play or just sheer fantasy, it is regarded as a thing of beauty. The cast will be as follows:

The Piano with the Human touch

The person who might, perchance, wander into A. P. Wagoner's piano store, 305 North Main street, when the new Reproducing Three-In-One Player Piano is playing, would immediately suspect that Mr. Wagoner had imported some famous virtuoso to demonstrate his Jesse French & Son piano, so realistic is the playing of this latest creation in reproducing instruments.

The piano reproduces the music so nearly like it would be played by a skilled pianist that the difference could not be distinguished were it not for the fact that one sees the instrument playing with no one at the keys.

The instrument reproduces the music just as it is written, including the most minute phrasing. It may be played with electricity, with foot pedals or by hand. The keys and control levers are concealed so that it can not be distinguished from a piano without the player attachment. The rolls are automatically re-wound when a number is concluded and the piano stops.

The music lovers of Rush county are invited to come and hear this wonderful creation. A demonstration will be given every Saturday, all day. The price is $550. The model on the floor is a beautiful mahogany.

MERCY ASSURED: He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy.—Proverbs 28: 13.

New Facts on Merchant Marine

It is not surprising that the president's address to congress on the merchant marine received close attention and was accorded hearty applause, for the address presented a number of new viewpoints of the subject, which had hitherto received little or no consideration.

For instance, how many had considered the ship bill from this viewpoint? "I am not asking your authorization of a new and added draft on the public treasury; I am appealing for a program to diminish the burden we are already bearing." The president then went on to show that under government operation the present merchant marine, with 2,250,000 tons active, is costing $50,000,000 over and above receipts to operate. The ship aid bill calls for $30,000,000 annually to be derived from customs duties.

How many laymen had considered this factor? "We are wearing out our ships without any provision for replacement. * * * Only a few years of continued losses on capital account will make these losses through depreciation alone to exceed the fifty millions a year now drawn to cover losses in operation." That means the end of a marine for which the last administration soaked the American people more than $3,000,000,000.

How many had thought of these comparisons? "We have aided industry through our tariffs; we have aided railway transportation in land grants and loans; we have aided the construction of market roads and the improvement of inland water ways; we have aided reclamation and irrigation and the development of water power; we have loaned for seed grains in anticipation of harvests. We spend millions in investigation and experimentation to promote a common benefit, though a limited few are the direct beneficiaries. We have loaned hundreds of millions to promote the marketing of American goods." Why should we not establish and maintain American market highways on the seas? Shipping is our one unprotected industry.

How many knew this of the bill? "Though differing in detail, it is not more in proportion to their population and capacity than other great nations have done in aiding the establishment of their merchant marines. * * * I hope it is seemly to say it, because it must be said, the maritime nations of the world are in complete accord with the opposition here to the pending measure." Foreigners would deliver our goods.

How many had given this a thought? "Congress has created by law conditions surrounding labor on

"Wimmin' and children 'exposed' to the cigarette habit soon catch it."

American ships which shipping men the world over declare result in higher costs of operation under our flag. I frankly rejoice if higher standards of labor on American ships have been established. Merest justice suggests that when congress fixes these standards it is fair to extend government aid in maintaining them until world competition is brought to the same high level, or until our shipping lines are so firmly established that they can face world competition alone.

How many were aware that "the approximate sum of five millions annually paid for the transport of ocean mails is no new expenditure?" and that "the loan fund to encourage building is not new; it is the law already enacted by the essential unanimous vote of Congress? It is only included in the pending bill in order to amend so as to assure the exaction of a minimum interest rate by the government, whereas the existing law leaves the grant of building loans to any whim of favoritism." * * *

Here are six new ideas, and there were several more while the old ones still remain sound. The president's address added much to public understanding of the merchant marine problem.

Time to Face the Facts

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments, I was said to possess, I was encouraged to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. By HEZE CLARK
(Written for United Press)

At the close of the 1922 college football season there was no question that Notre Dame had the best team in the state. By defeating Purdue, Indiana, Butler and DePauw by large scores, Coach Knute Rockne proved his team was in a class by itself and few teams in the country were the equal of the fighting Irish.

For the first time in many years, Butler proved to be a real factor in the state championship race. Butler's victories over DePauw, Wabash, Earlham, Franklin and Rose Poly gave them the right to meet Notre Dame in the championship game. The better team won, but Butler ranked second among the college teams of the state. Wabash was in third place. They defeated Purdue and piled up a 30 to 0 victory over DePauw. DePauw played Indiana a tie game and Indiana and Purdue played a 7 to 7 tie.

At the close of every football season, it is customary to name a mythical team known as the all state college football team. It is the desire of the critic to name on the first team the eleven men who would form the best combination and to name another team, selecting the second best eleven.

This I am doing now as I have done for years past, and I am compelled to give honorable mention to

Tiger's Championship Claim

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 1—Princeton, with an established championship of the "Big Three", has as good a claim as any other eleven for the football championship of the east.

Looking over the schedule which the Tigers went through without being defeated, perhaps they have the best claim on the title.

Cornell, beyond doubt, has a wonderful team, but the Rhacans had no opponent on their schedule to class with Chicago, Yale and Harvard.

Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson also had fine football machines, but until both institutions established the three-year rule of eligibility there will always be some sentiment against classing them with other teams who work under the handicap of a freshman rule.

In many ways, Princeton had a most remarkable team in 1922. It looked like the blossom of a lust in late September, but it bloomed into one of the greatest of the many great elevens that have carried the Orange and Black colors.

Before each of the big games, the critics predicted that Princeton should not win, but they probably would.

The spirit of the Princeton team, that never admitted defeat, even when the evidence was powerful at hand, is vorded on a sign posted in the Tiger club house:

"A team that won't be beaten, can't be beaten."

The Tigers have been called arch-opportunists, eternal vigilants and champion luckers. Everything fits them but the luck accusation.

The breaks did come for Princeton in Chicago and Harvard games and they didn't waste one chance to score. When the opportunity came they made the best of it. The luck all went against them in Yale game, but they won because they got only one chance to score and they scored on that one chance.

Princeton had no outstanding stars at the start of the season and perhaps the Tigers will not have representation on all the All-American elevens, but after watching that team play no one will deny that IT WAS A TEAM.

After what he did this season, Bill Roper will have to be recognized as a great coach. In the last four years, Harvard hasn't been able to beat the Tigers and Harvard is generally recognized as having the greatest football system in the country. The Houghton style of play is obviously superior to Yale's but it does not seem to work against a team that "won't be beaten."

Harvard accused the Tigers of playing dirty football in 1921 and 1922. If there is any strain like that in the Princeton players, it must get itself out against Harvard, because none of it has been apparent in other games.

Princeton admittedly plays hard football, it runs hard and it tackles hard, but that is part of the game.

In the game against Yale, "Pink" Baker, the great Princeton tackle, had a chance to throw Charley O'Hearn for a dirty fall. O'Hearn is so fragile that he might have been knocked out for the rest of the season with a heavy fall. Baker, however, didn't throw him. He just grabbed and held him.

Some stories are being told about the horrible language that Princeton used against the Chicago players last year and how rough work knocked out so many of the Chicago elevens.

It will be recalled, however, that several of the Princeton men were practically lost for the season in that game, so if Chicago was being roughed they weren't taking it like little lambs.

Tenth Straight Victory in Game
Here Tonight

3 GAMES SATURDAY NIGHT

The Greensburg high school basketball team, with nine victories in the belt, and not a loss this season, will invade Rushville tonight, in an effort to annex another victory, and the Tree City will be followed by 150 rooters and a drum corps.

In addition to the varsity teams meeting, a curtain raiser also will be played between the second teams from Greensburg and Rushville, and this game also is expected to be a good drawing card.

Although Greensburg has not met up with fast teams like Columbus and Shelbyville, they are confident that the teams which they have beaten have been on a level with Rushville, and they are equally as confident of winning the contest tonight.

Three games will be played here Saturday night, when the Muncie Midgets, a 125-pound team, will meet the R. H. S. second team, and the Muncie Kewpies, a 95-pound average, will meet a similar average team from the local schools. The third game on Saturday night will be played between the Senior class team, and a combined team from the underclassmen.

Many a man who has come to us for a clean and press has been asked this very question, however.

More than that—one of our regular jobs is mending tears and places where the fabric has pulled apart, in such a manner that they cannot be seen. One man after another has received months of wear out of a suit of clothes he thought ready for the "old clothes man."

The guests spent the evening after dinner with playing cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Hessell, living west of the city, entertained the Community club Wednesday evening. The guests enjoyed the evening playing euchre, dancing and with music. At the close of the evening light refreshments were served to

FAIL TO REACH MASS OF PUPILS

Vocational Education Criticized in Chapter Devoted To Question By School Survey Commission

RECEIVES SPECIAL FAVORS

State Not Justified In Spending Sum Required To Support Approved Vocational Education

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—Failure of vocational education to reach the mass of the school pupils is pointed out in the report of the State Educational Survey Commission to Governor McCray with apparent suggestions for beneficial changes.

The report declares that vocational education receives special favors beyond all other forms of education, pointing out that it is singled out for representation on the State Board of Education and is supported by special taxes. The work of the division of vocational education in the state department is confined to "approved" courses, requiring pupils to devote half time to vocational subjects in order that communities may receive state and federal aid.

The high schools, according to the report, can not justifiably maintain both the "approved" and "non-approved" courses, for by choosing one or the other they exclude a large part of their enrollment from the course or forego the state and federal aid. The result of the present practice, says the report, is to deny home economies to many girls, and agriculture to country boys, except that it works no damage in the large high schools.

"The numerous small high schools are crippled both in their general and their vocational work," says the report. "So long as the present policy is continued, small high schools can not be effectively organized and economically maintained."

To carry out present plans for "approved" vocational education, the commission found that it would call for a state and local expenditure of about $1,500,000 a year and the commission reached this conclusion:

"The state is not justified in spending annually any such sums on "approved" vocational education as now organized and administered. Vocational education should be an integral part of the public school system and the amount of money spent on it at any given time should be decided with due regard to the needs of all other forms of public education."

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without sudden pain, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil. Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back, and out comes the pain. It is harmless, and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil from any drug store, and after using it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt, or cause any more misery. It never disappoints, and has been recommended for 60 years.

Perfect Regulation-- Positive Lubrication

THE PERFECT CIRCLE Oil Regulating Piston Ring has an annular groove turned on the face of the ring, midway between the edges. At equal intervals in this groove, slots are milled through to the inner surface of the ring. The groove, which is turned on the surface, collects the oil from the cylinder wall and, as the groove fills, the surplus is drained away through the slots. The oil that is thus collected behind the ring is drained back into the crank case by means of holes drilled through the inner wall of the ring groove. The superiority of the PERFECT CIRCLE Oil-Regulating Ring is due to its double function. First, it regulates lubrication by returning surplus oil to the crank case. Second, it provides positive lubrication of the cylinder wall. The use of PERFECT CIRCLE Oil-Regulating Rings reduces oil consumption to a minimum, thereby eliminating the evil of fouled spark plugs and carbon deposits. Only one Oil-Regulating Ring is used to a piston.

MEET TO ORGANIZE PROGRESSIVE BLOC

Progressives To Band Themselves Together To Seek Control Of Congressional Machinery

SEN. LAFOLLETTE CHAIRMAN

To Urge That An Organization As Definite As Senate And House Be Formed By Progressives

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 1.—Progressive Senators and House members in this congress, and those elected on November 7 to the 68th Congress, gathered here today to organize a progressive bloc which will seek control of congressional machinery.

Headed by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Wisconsin, the progressives intend to band themselves together in support of a program which included these items:

1. Defeat of the Administration's ship subsidy and anti-strike legislation.

2. Forcing of an extra session of the new congress shortly after March 4, 1923.

3. Enactment in the new congress of a large program of industrial and economic legislation.

Further than that, the aims of the progressives had not been mapped out when the conference met today. Whether the progressive movement as thus embodied in the national legislature will develop within the next two years into a third party is a question with which the progressive leaders announced they would not concern themselves.

Senator LaFollette was expected to be chosen today as chairman of the progressive group.

It was uncertain when the conference met whether the farm bloc in House and Senate would agree to merge themselves in the new progressive bloc, and lose their identity, but progressive leaders hoped this would be the result. The present movement, like numbering Republicans and Democrats in its membership.

LaFollette was to open the conference with a statement to the progressives. He said beforehand that he would tell his colleagues that in the November 7 election the people, under spur of political unrest and dissatisfaction with Republican and Democratic leadership, had clearly given the progressives a mandate to take control of the House and Senate by electing enough of them to hold the balance of power in both houses.

He will urge that an organization as definite and cohesive as the Senate and the House be formed by the progressives, and that from now on they function as a distinct unit on all questions involving national interest.

LaFollette will suggest that the People's Legislative Service, organized by progressives in 1920 be continued to keep the people informed on governmental affairs and particularly on the activities of the progressives.

A suggestion that the progressives acquire newspapers in various parts of the country may be taken up today at the conference or by a larger meeting called for tomorrow, which will be attended by representative progressive men and women from all sections of the nation.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 1.—William G. Oliver of Franklin, republican auditor of state for the last two years today turned over the office to Robert L. Bracken of Frankfort, democrat, who was the victor at the recent election. The change was the first made at the state house as a result of the election and the only other one to come will be on Jan. 1, when Z. T. Dungan succeeds Patrick J. Lynch as clerk of the supreme and appellate courts.

For the last several days, Carl Cune, former deputy clerk of the Clinton circuit court, has been at the auditor's office for instructions from the retiring auditor regarding the work of the office. Mr. Cune is to be M. Brackens chief deputy and he too took office today. Mr. Bracken announced that he would place other democrats at work as soon as he could but with the complicated nature of his office, these changes

Court Instructs Prosecutor to File
Perjury and Unlawful Liquor
Possession Charges

BLAINE FRITCH ACCUSED

Made Sworn Statement He and Frank
Rogers Bought Whiskey From
Fred Clevenger Nov. 7

DENIES IT ON THE STAND

Rogers Verifies Prosecutor's Story
of Transaction—Fritch Alleges
a "Frame-Up"

Blaine Fritch, prosecuting witness for the state in the alleged liquor law violation case on which Fred Clevenger was being tried today in the circuit court, changed his original sworn statement, and denied on the witness stand that he had purchased liquor from the defendant. Shortly before noon, after the witness had been examined by each side, Judge Sparks ordered Sheriff Hunt to take him into custody and that a charge of perjury and also for unlawful possession of liquor be filed against him.

The case against Clevenger continued, and the next witness was Frank Rogers, who was in company with Fritch when the alleged sale of two pints of liquor took place, and this witness verified the sworn statement, implicating Clevenger in the deal.

Fritch's testimony created quite a stir in the court room. He said that he now resides in Indianapolis, and moved there in September. He said that on the night before the election he came to Rushville and on election morning he met Albert C. Stevens, the prosecutor, in Main street, near his office, and that the latter asked him "if he had anything on his hip".

The witness stated that he had about a pint, and they went into Steven's office, where each of them drank some of it. Fritch said he asked the prosecutor how the case was coming along with Frank Rogers, who had been indicted a few weeks previous on a charge of assault with intent to commit a crime. The witness explained that he was a friend to Rogers, as they had been engaged frequently in the same line of work.

He said that he made a suggestion that he wished something could be done to exonerate Rogers, and that the prosecutor suggested a "frame-up" on Fred Clevenger. Fritch said that the prosecutor told him that if he and Rogers would go to Clevenger's house and buy some liquor, and make a statement to that effect and produce the evidence, that the case against Rogers would be dropped.

The prosecutor in his opening statement stated that on election night, November 7, about 6:30 o'clock, Rogers and Fritch went with Clevenger in his automobile, to his home near Circleville, and that a sworn statement was made by the men that they gave Clevenger $5.00, waited in the machine alongside Clevenger's house, while he went inside, and that he delivered them two pint bottles of corn whiskey.

The witness, Fritch, however, on the witness stand, denied that he bought the liquor from Clevenger, but admitted signing the statement, and stated that he went to the covered bridge in South Main street, and obtained the liquor where he had previously hidden it in the rafters.

He said that he had bought it earlier in the day from a man by the name of Adam Parker, who lives in Indianapolis. He said that he then

SPECIAL POLICE ON DUTY

Guard Estate at Clayton, O., Where
Clemenceau Spends the Day

Clayton, Mo., Dec. 1—Special police with their sawed-off shot guns slung under their arms patrolled the lawn of the palatial Pultzer estate, guarding Georges Clemenceau against any possible attack on his life.

The "tiger" who arrived here this morning, rested quietly. He looked not at all disturbed by the fact that a threatening letter had been received by St. Louis authorities. He was somewhat annoyed by the armed guard, but Mayor Keil refused to take any chances.

took the two bottles to the prosecutor, who took a drink out of one of them, and that he took a drink out of the other one.

The witness stated that in the "frame-up" against Clevenger, the prosecutor had previously told him that they would arrest Clevenger, and that he could get between $300 and $400 out of him, and that the money would be split three ways, among all three of them.

Mr. Fritch stated that Clevenger had visited him three times in Indianapolis, since his arrest, to talk about the facts in the case. He denied that Clevenger had paid him any money to change his testimony, upon being asked by the state's attorney. The witness stated also that he had talked to Mr. Stevens twice since the case came up.

At the conclusion of his evidence, Judge Sparks immediately ordered the sheriff to take charge of Fritch because he had made a false statement under oath, either to the prosecutor or to the jury, and that a charge of unlawful possession of liquor would be filed because he had testified to having two pints in his possession on election day. The witness went to jail, and the formal charges were to be docketed against him late today, and he will remain in jail until noon Saturday, if the court sees fit, without bond.

Rogers, the next witness, told a story which was practically identical to the one outlined by the prosecutor in his opening statement to the jury, in which the defendant was implicated.

The defense in the case is being represented by Donald Smith and John A. Tittsworth, and the state is represented by Prosecutor Stevens and Attorney Minton, from the state federal prohibition enforcement office.

The state rested their case shortly after noon, and the defense set out their case, in an attempt to prove an alibi for the defendant. George Aultman testified that he rode with the defendant in his machine after the voting polls closed on election night, and that he was with him at 6:10 or 6:15 on that night.

Other witnesses who testified similarly were Ray Benning, Will Brann and Patrolman Ray Lakin, all who stated that the defendant was at the voting precinct, located at the Innis Pearce factory at six o'clock, or a few minutes later, when the polls were closed.

The state had attempted to show that the alleged purchase was made between 6 and 6:30 on election night.

The jury hearing the case, is composed of George Seeley, Harry McFatridge, Ed. L. Reeve, Jeff Leisure, Gilbert Cooley, Jake Wynn, Ed Hood, Ed. O. Clark, J. F. Fore, Will Abercrombie, William Hardwick and James Oldham.

The case was expected to be completed late today, depending upon the length of the arguments.

TOURING CAR BUMPED AT STREET CROSSING

Machine Driven by Mary Evelyn
Cook of Richland Township Struck
by Interurban Car

ONLY SLIGHT DAMAGE IS DONE

A closed touring car, belonging to Ollie J. Cook of Richland township and driven by his daughter, Mary Evelyn, was bumped and slightly damaged by an I. & C. eastbound traction car, this morning shortly before ten o'clock at the Perkins street crossing of the interurban line, but none of the four occupants of the car was hurt. Miss Cook was accompanied by her mother and two girl friends.

The machine was going north in Perkins street and Miss Cook saw the car just before the machine reached the tracks. She pulled the car to the right and ran up over the curb with the right front wheel, but the interurban struck the machine on the left front fender and mashed down the left front wheel.

The interurban car was brought to a stop within a distance equal to the length of the car. It was in charge of Henry Allender of Greensburg, conductor, and Price Giles of this city, motorman.

Mrs. Cook and the three girls were on the way to attend the funeral of Elmer J. Ralston, which was held at the late residence, 307 East Eighth street, at ten o'clock this morning.

VENIZELOS SEES GREEK REPUBLIC

Former Premier Says That People Of
Greece Are Ripe For Change In
Form Of Government

KING OFFERS TO ABDICATE

Athens, Dec. 1.—Former Premier Venizelos today forecast a Greek republic as the country was torn with dissension over trials and executions of war leaders.

"The people are ripe for a republic," he wrote friends in letters made public here.

Turko-Bulgarian insurrectionist outbreaks in Selah added to the turmoil with which the revolutionary government finds itself enveloped.

The revolutionists attacked Greek troops who repulsed them after killing 28. Thirteen of the Turk-Bulgars taken prisoners were later executed.

A dozen or more powerful influences were at work today to prevent the execution of Prince Andrew, brother of former King Constantine and other "war guilty" yet to be tried and sentenced.

Prince Andrew's court martial will begin shortly it was announced.

King George, fearful of the turn in events and as a protest against trials and executions, has offered to abdicate. The offer was made immediately after he learned that the prince would be tried.

Princess Alice arrived to lead the defense of Andrew, her husband. She is a sister of Lord Louis Mountbatten of England.

BUILDING PROGRAM WILL BE DISCUSSED

Trustees of State Penal Farm Will
Meet Saturday to Outline Plans
Following Trip

NEW BUILDINGS ARE NEEDED

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Dec. 1—An extensive permanent building program, which according to tentative plans, provide for the replacement of the number of present buildings at the state penal farm, will be discussed and outlined by the board of trustees of the farm at a meeting called for Saturday by the chairman, Claude Gregg.

The proposed program follows an extensive investigation made at penal farms in Canada and the United States by the trustees, who returned Thursday. The trustees following their meeting will submit the report to the governor who will be asked to take the matter before the next session of the legislature.

The trustees met with John J. Edson of Washington, "father of the penal farm idea of prison," who provided them with new ideas of how to regulate and operate a modern penal farm.

According to the trustees, the buildings now at the farm are falling to pieces and need immediate attention. At the meeting Saturday it is expected that the trustees will take up the question of changing the superintendent of institution, in that Governor McCray has left the entire matter in their hands.

In some instances, refreshments will be served.

The Posey township meeting, which will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Arlington gym, may be taken as an example of the kind of programs that will be provided. SEAT PLAT OPEN TO SUBSCRIBERS

Reservations For First Bill Of Little
Theatre Society May Be Made
Saturday At 10 A. M.

TO BE GIVEN NEXT THURSDAY

Costs For Three One-Act Plays Are
Announced Today—Single Admis-
sion Opens Tuesday

Seat reservations for the first bill of the Little Theatre Society of Rushville, to be presented at the Princess theatre next Thursday evening may be made by subscribers only, beginning Saturday at ten a. m., at the society workshop over the Farmers Trust company, it was announced today by Raymond Gregg, the director.

The first of three bills to be given by the society during the winter will be composed of "The Trysting Place", a comedy; "The Bank Account", a drama and "The Dream Maker", a fairy fantasy.

Season tickets are now on sale at seventy-five cents each, which will admit the holder to all three performances to be given this winter, and single admission tickets are thirty-five cents.

There will be no phone orders or "lay-aways" of reserved seats. The sale of single admission tickets to the first bill will start next Tuesday at Pitman and Wilson's drug store.

The season tickets are transferable but will be punched for each performance for which they are used. Due to the uncertainty of just where each bill will be given, it will be impossible to have the same seats reserved in advance for the whole season, but subscribers will be given ample time before each sale goes on to make their reservations.

The scene for "The Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington, is laid in one of the lojoking rooms of a large summer hotel, to which the Briggs family has come for a "rest." The title of the play is suggested by the picking of this apparently very quiet little nook for a secret meeting by each of three couples. Just how each arranges their meeting is divulged with the usual Tarkington humor. There is a typical Tarkington boy in the person of Lancelot Briggs who, like William Sylvanus Baxter in the same author's "Seventeen", is hopelessly in love with the "most wonderful woman."

The cast for the play is as follows:

Lancelot Briggs, Burton Smith; Mrs. Curtis, Elsie Davis; Mrs. Briggs, Gladys Osborne; Jessie Briggs, Thelma Hunsinger; Rupert Smith, Gene Kelly; Mr. Inggoldby, Russell Tithworth; Mysterious Voice, ?

"The Bank Account" by Howard Brock, is regarded as one of the strongest one-act plays ever written by an American. It was written in the play-writing class of Prof. Baker at Harvard, a class which is in a way a Little Theatre group itself, known as the 47 Workshop. The play deals with a problem that is essentially true to life in every city. There are only three characters, but each one is so real and so life-like that they easily put the author's point over and send the audience home thinking. May Harding and Lottie Benson, the two women concerned, are what might be called "common," not bad, but hopelessly lacking of good ideas or an understanding of life's problems. They will be portrayed by Lillian Priest and Wanda Wyatt. Lottie's husband, Frank Benson, will be played by Leslie Davis.

"The Dream Maker," by Blanch Thompson, is said to be a play for children of all ages—from seven to seventy. Some call it a fairy play because the characters are people who dwell on the moon and stars. Be it a fairy play or just sheer fantasy, it is regarded as a thing of beauty. The cast will be as follows:

The person who might, perchance, wander into A. P. Wagoner's piano store, 305 North Main street, when the new Reproducing Three-In-One Player Piano is playing, would immediately suspect that Mr. Wagoner had imported some famous virtuoso to demonstrate his Jesse French & Son piano, so realistic is the playing of this latest creation in reproducing instruments.

The piano reproduces the music so nearly like it would be played by a skilled pianist that the difference could not be distinguished were it not for the fact that one sees the instrument playing with no one at the keys.

The instrument reproduces the music just as it is written, including the most minute phrasing. It may be played with electricity, with foot pedals or by hand. The keys and control levers are concealed so that it can not be distinguished from a piano without the player attachment. The rolls are automatically re-wound when a number is concluded and the piano stops.

The music lovers of Rush county are invited to come and hear this wonderful creation. A demonstration will be given every Saturday, all day. The price is $550. The model on the floor is a beautiful mahogany.

MERCY ASSURED: He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whose confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy.—Proverbs 28: 13.

New Facts on Merchant Marine

It is not surprising that the president's address to congress on the merchant marine received close attention and was accorded hearty applause, for the address presented a number of new viewpoints of the subject, which had hitherto received little or no consideration.

For instance, how many had considered the ship bill from this viewpoint? "I am not asking your authorization of a new and added draft on the public treasury; I am appealing for a program to diminish the burden we are already bearing." The president then went on to show that under government operation the present merchant marine, with 2,250,000 tons active, is costing $50,000,000 over and above receipts to operate. The ship aid bill calls for $30,000,000, annually to be derived from customs duties.

How many laymen had considered this factor? "We are wearing out our ships without any provision for replacement. Only a few years of continued losses on capital account will make these losses through depreciation alone to exceed the fifty millions a year now drawn to cover losses in operation." That means the end of a marine for which the last administration soaked the American people more than $3,000,000,000.

How many had thought of these comparisons? "We have aided industry through our tariffs; we have aided railway transportation in land grants and loans; we have aided the construction of market roads and the improvement of inland water ways; we have aided reclamation and irrigation and the development of water power; we have loaned for seed grains in anticipation of harvests. We spend millions in investigation and experimentation to promote a common benefit, though a limited few are the direct beneficiaries. We have loaned hundreds of millions to promote the marketing of American goods." Why should we not establish and maintain American market highways on the seas? Shipping is our one unprotected industry.

How many knew this of the bill? "Though differing in detail, it is not more in proportion to their population and capacity than other great nations have done in aiding the establishment of their merchant marines. I hope it is seemly to say it, because it must be said, the maritime nations of the world are in complete accord with the opposition here to the pending measure." Foreigners would deliver our goods.

How many had given this a thought? "Congress has created by law conditions surrounding labor on American ships which shipping men the world over declare result in higher costs of operation under our flag. I frankly rejoice if higher standards of labor on American ships have been established. Merest justice suggests that when congress fixes these standards it is fair to extend government aid in maintaining them until world competition is brought to the same high level, or until our shipping lines are so firmly established that they can face world competition alone."

How many were aware that "the approximate sum of five millions annually paid for the transport of ocean mails is no new expenditure?" and that "the loan fund to encourage building is not new; it is the law already enacted by the essential unanimous vote of Congress? It is only included in the pending bill in order to amend so as to assure the exaction of a minimum interest rate by the government, whereas the existing law leaves the grant of building loans to any whim of favoritism."

Here are six new ideas, and there were several more while the old ones still remain sound. The president's address added much to public understanding of the merchant marine problem.

Time to Face the Facts

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments, I was said to possess, I was encouraged to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by druggists everywhere.
